Old Gas Bag

Q. What has happened to the Goodyear blimp that used to be seen around this area so often? B.H., Torrance.

A. The blimp, the Columbia, is on its annual goodwill tour of the hinterlands. It normally winters in Southern California and is expected back soon from its summer-long barnstorming on behalf of the big rubber company. Goodyear spokesman Betty Matthews says the company has bought land in the Dominguez-Carson area at 19200 S. Main St. which will become the Columbia's permanent base. The firm has a second blimp, the Mayflower, which is based in Florida.

Free Advice

Q. My wife and I are considering buying a grocery business but we know nothing about running it. We have heard of an organization of retired businessmen who give advice on such matters but we don't know the group's name. Can ACTION LINE help? D.S.J., Lakewood.

A. The organization, which is sponsored by the Small Business Administration and has 185 self-governing chapters, is known as SCORE, Service Corps of Retired Executives. Men who have retired from executive positions or their own business donate their time to counsel small businessmen. To receive help, the businessman must employ 25 persons or less and be unable to afford professional counseling, says Jack Lang, SCORE co-ordinator. There is no charge for the counseling. The applicant is asked only to pay the counselor's transportation and subsistence expense if he has to travel to the place of business. "We are happy to answer questions on business operations and we are also looking for more counseling volunteers," Lang adds. For a SCORE brochure and application and a pamphlet called, "Buying a Going Concern," write SCORE, 312 W. Fifth St., Los Angeles 90013. Call 688-2904 for information.

No Headaches for Ted

Q. I am interested in Teddy Quinn, the little boy on the TV show "Accidental Family." Is he the same child who did an aspirin commercial some time ago? I had heard that this child was killed. Is this true? Mrs. L. L., Long Beach.

A. Teddy, now 8½, is alive and well and is, indeed, the same boy who did the commercial, says Bud Tenerani, publicist for the show. If you will send us your full name and address, we will forward to you pictures and biographical material on Teddy.

Come Home, Bill...

Q. I am trying to find a copy of the book, "Million Dollar Blackjack," published several years ago. The book was written by William Bonelli and was critical of a prominent Los Angeles family who, I understand, had it removed from circulation. Can you help? W.O.R., Long Beach.

A. Yes. The book was not removed from circulation, however. It is available at the main branch of the Long Beach Public Library. If you want to buy one, a copy will be held for you at Acres of Books, 240 Long Beach Blvd., until Oct. 7 in the name of ACTION LINE. Bonelli (no relation to Los Angeles County Supervisor Frank G. Bonelli) was a member of the powerful state Board of Equalization in 1954 when the book appeared under his name. Shortly afterward, he was accused of accepting some $250,000 in bribes from liquor license applicants. Bonelli, now 71, fled to Mexico where he remains. Attempts to extradite him to face the charges have failed and, in June, he lost an appeal in the State Supreme Court over his claim for state retirement pay of $500 a month. The scandal surrounding the payoff charges touched off a complete revision of liquor licensing procedures.

Beach Beef

Q. Why can't our beach sand be cleaned? Our beach at 14th Place is a disgrace — broken glass and debris all over the place. Doesn't the city have any beach cleaning equipment to take care of this problem? L. L., Long Beach.

A. A whole warehouseful, says John Williams of the city manager's staff. And he doesn't understand your complaint. On a personal inspection tour of the area, he found the beach looking fine. Williams says the city has an annual budget of $200,000 just for beach cleaning and is well equipped to do the job with four tractors, four hydraulically-operated rakes, four 10-foot bay rakes, two beach sanitizers to strain the sand, three bulldozers, three large trailers for waterline work and a big overhead-loading truck for emptying trash cans. The city rakes the entire beach daily and empties trash cans three days a week, Williams says.

Hands Tied

Q. My husband has a nervous problem. His doctor suggested he get a pair of handcuffs with a key so that when he has a bad attack of nerves we can handcuff him and take him to the hospital. I have been able to find only toy handcuffs. Could ACTION LINE help me find some real handcuffs? Mrs. D. M., Long Beach.

A. Yes. Police-type handcuffs are available at the Long Beach Uniform Co., 200 Long Beach Blvd. Owner Arthur Howard asks that you see him personally, and he will assist you on your selection.

SOUND OFF!

Recently, I saw a young father lift his son, about 2 years old, into the air by one leg, hold him there upside down and whip him. The poor little thing was crying pathetically. Thank goodness, the mother arrived on the scene and lifted the child into her arms. I hope that cruel father sees this and takes stock of himself. Why are people like that permitted to beget children? H. C. P., Seal Beach.

All Eyes on New UC Head

Finance Wizard Succeeds Kerr; Unruh Absent
By RALPH HINMAN JR.
Education Editor

A former assistant secretary of Defense, Charles J. Hitch, 58, Friday afternoon was the unanimous choice of the board of regents to head the University of California.

Hitch, UC's current vice president-finance, on Jan. 1 will move into a job held on a temporary basis by Harry R. Wellman since President Clark Kerr was fired three weeks after Gov. Ronald Reagan took office early this year.

His selection was announced by regents Chairman Theodore R. Meyer after three closed executive sessions of the board at UCLA's Macgowan Hall.

CHARLES J. HITCH
New UC President

Gov. Reagan, who strongly criticized Kerr's leadership during the 1966 gubernatorial campaign, joined 20 other regents present in voting for Hitch. Absent were Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, Mrs. Randolph A. Hearst, William M. Roth and Einar O. Mohr.

DURING A RECESS

Reagan told newsmen it would be "improper" for him as governor to comment on the still-unsettled appointment. He said he would vote "as my conscience dictates" as an individual regent.

Although selection of a president was not on the regents' agenda, rumors were rife Friday morning that Hitch was being considered for the job. The appointment presumably was discussed in three formal, off-the-record regents meetings prior to the 4:15 p.m. announcement.

Regents also were handed copies of a 1967-68 operating budget calling for the expenditure of $474,662,694. They will vote at an October session whether or not to submit the budget as written to the legislature.

IF THE regents approve, the university will actually request $308 million from the state. This figure, $65 million higher than the current budget, replaces cuts made by the governor and allocates $23.3 million to meet an expected 8.4 per cent enrollment increase.

Private and federal grants would make up the difference between expenditures and state moneys.

The UC Irvine campus is allocated $13,211,208 by the tentative budget. An additional $4,049,376 was earmarked for California College of Medicine, scheduled to begin moving later this year from Los Angeles to the Orange County campus.

UCLA itself is allotted $103,914,759.

Incumbent President Hitch joined UC as vice president-finance in May, 1965, after serving as comptroller and assistant secretary of defense.

Hurricane Blows Out in Mexico

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Billion-dollar Beulah battered herself to death Friday against Mexico's northern mountains, leaving behind such devastation that she will rank high among historic hurricanes.

A wedge of Texas as large as Indiana remained virtually isolated by telephone, highway and, in many cases, air.

The Navy, National Guard, Coast Guard and Army drove high-wheeled trucks through treacherous waters and flew to danger spots to rescue the threatened and carry food and snake serum.

A MILLION or more persons were immobilized, unable to leave the post-storm floor areas.

Col. Homer Garrison, head of the Department of Public Safety, told the refugees to stay where they were.

The big terror Friday was stream flooding from rains as heavy as 30 inches at Victoria and up to 20 inches in many other places.

Beulah, which hit land just before dawn Wednesday at Brownsville on Texas' southern tip, set off the typical sequence of great storms.

First its winds, estimated at more than 160 miles per hour, destroyed homes and businesses, sank boats, tore down signs, stripped the Lower Rio Grande Valley of its $50 million orange and grapefruit crop, uprooted or broke many trees in the groves.

ITS EYE went up the coast, as it battered Corpus Christi and other cities with treacherous winds, lashed torrential rains, then curved north northwest, still triggering deluges.

The rain made lakes of fields and swamped many towns. Friday, the towns got more water from the sky and in the form of boiling and flooding creeks and rivers.

Some cities, such as Brownsville, which was beginning to recover, braced for new onslaughts of water from flooding rivers. At one point a pilot reported the normally trickling Rio Grande, which empties into the Gulf of Mexico near Brownsville, was a mile wide upstream. A federal official warned of the largest Rio Grande floods in 30 years.

The Weather Bureau put the tag of "approximately a billion dollars" damage on Beulah since she formed 14 days ago in the Atlantic.

She killed 24 in the Caribbean and the Yucatan Peninsula before smashing the southern Texas coast.

Texas counted eight known dead — four from the 95 tornadoes spun off from the hurricane. The total was by far the highest number of tornadoes ever started by a singled hurricane.

Romney Amid the Hippies

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)

Michigan Gov. George Romney and his wife, Lenore, rode Friday in a pickup truck into the heart of San Francisco's hippie land to join the flower children in a free meal.

It was a wild 20 minutes for the GOP presidential hopeful as hippies first shouted taunts before peacefully exchanging views.

More than 200 hippies surrounded him the Golden Gate Park panhandle where the Diggers —

Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois says electing a Republican president is a prerequisite to ending war in Vietnam. Page A-5.

The hippies' good samaritans — dished up a free meal of chicken, corn on the cob and salad.

AFTER 20 minutes, Romney emerged from the crowd nibbling a corn on the cob and entered his limousine looking grim. Asked what he thought of the hippies, he only shook his head as the car windows were closed.

After his return to his hotel, however, Romney told newsmen:

"I particularly appreciated their telling me exactly what they thought, and I found it to be a very meaningful discussion."

The Romneys rode in the front seat of the pickup to the park from the Huckleberry House, a hostel for runaway teen-agers. Their chauffeur was Emmett Grogan, founder of the Diggers.

HORNS BLARED and the flower children chanted good naturedly in favor of "legalized pot" (marijuana).

Earlier Gov. Romney said "people preaching open guerrilla warfare in our cities" must be convinced all citizens are serious about granting them equality.

He made the statement during a television panel discussion on his 17-city tour of the nation to study needs of cities. He emphasized the tour was "non-political as possible."

Halley Urges Unity to GOP Convention

By BOB HOUSER
Political Editor

State GOP Chief James W. Halley Friday in Anaheim posed unity as the 1968 alternative to a $5-million primary fight, and leaned hard on Republican state senators to take command of their house next year.

Halley, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee in convention here through Sunday, looked for convention endorsement on the first theme — resolutions reaffirming the party's 11th commandment — against speaking ill of other Republicans and supporting Gov. Ronald Reagan's favorite son candidacy.

The second theme — Republican reorganization of the state Senate — might come harder, but Halley anticipated rank and file Republicans would supply the pressure. He said he expected no convention action on the matter.

SENATE REPUBLICANS won their 20th seat in August with election of Milton Marks in San Francisco. Halley called the victory, in a 35-percent Republican district, as the "Marks Miracle." With the Senate divided 20-20 and with GOP Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch having the tie-breaking vote, it is theoretically possible for Republicans to dispossess Democratic President Pro Tem Hugh Burns, who has held the post for 10 years.

But Burns has Republican friends. The GOP passed up a try at reorganization in this month's veto-override session for a number of reasons including contention among three or four senators for the office.

Half of the 20 Republican senators must run for reelection next year. Halley told an opening day news conference, and "rank and file Republicans are avidly concerned. I think the senators will have to listen to them."

Halley intimated the problem presidency in itself was just a part of the GOP power seizure, that officer's seat on the potent Senate Rules Committee would spread his party's influence.

Despite lack of a resolution on the Senate power takeover, Halley said he feels it is the sense of the convention that "Republican senators should at the earliest possible time elect one of their number as president pro-tem."

The state committee, as the official arm of the party, has no proper position, said Halley, in trying to enforce a "12th commandment" drafted by the Volunteer California Republican Party.

'Not Jack,' Neighbors Testify

By SHERM WILLIAMS

Two of Jack Kirschke's neighbors testified at his murder dual-trial Friday that they saw a strange man sitting in his living room the night Elaine Terry Kirschke and Orville William Drankhan were killed.

One of the witnesses said in Superior Court at Los Angeles that she saw the bare arm of a third person in the kitchen with Mrs. Kirschke the evening of last April 7.

Friday afternoon testimony centered on a pair of palm trees used as rest stops by neighborhood dogs.

Henry B. Rowley, of 181 Rivo Alto Canal, in the Naples section of Long Beach, said his large dog tugged him up to one of the Kirschke palm trees at 9:30 p.m. April 7, and that he inadvertently looked into the brightly lit living room of the Kirschke ground floor duplex and saw a man sitting there.

IT WAS NOT Kirschke, Rowley said. He said the man was reading a newspaper and the man's face was obscured by it, but that he saw the hair on the man's head, arms and legs.

Lisette Avery, of 179 Rivo Alto Canal, testified she was walking her dog about 11 p.m. the same night and it stopped at the second palm tree. She said she glanced in the Kirschke front room window, saw a man sitting there, then moved a few steps on down the sidewalk.

Waiting for her dog, she said, she looked in again and saw Mrs. Kirschke in the kitchen and a bare hand (Continued Page A-5, Col. 3)

New Death May Help the Defense

By MARY NEISWENDER

The mysterious death of the business manager of the plush Long Beach Yacht Club will be brought into the Jack Kirschke murder trial even "if a reason has to be created."

So said defense attorney Albert C. S. Ramsey Friday after learning of the State Attorney General's investigation of the death and its possible connection with the double-murder case.

"If there's any possibility at all, I'll drag a dead cat across somebody's path," Ramsey said.

Meanwhile, Asst. Atty. Gen. Albert Harris refused to comment on the case, except to say his office "is still investigating." Investigators say there was a possible connection between the yacht club employee and the murder victims, Mrs. Elaine Terry Kirschke and Orville William Drankhan.

Thomas Tucker Swarin, 43-year-old bookkeeper and business office manager of the yacht club, was found dead Sept. 5 in his bachelor apartment at 4720 E. Fourth St.

Long Beach police have listed the death as suicide by gunshot; however, coronary (Continued Page A-5, Col. 2)

Pressure Builds on Marine Posts

Combined News Services

SAIGON—Intense barrages of artillery, mortar and rocket fire continued to slam today into the small outpost of Con Thien, where 35 U.S. Marines have been killed and 468 wounded in the past 10 days. Despite all the heavy armament the U.S. could muster against North Vietnamese gun positions in the demilitarized zone and just to the north of it in recent weeks, the enemy shelling has increased to a new crescendo. Newsmen reported more than 300 rounds hit Con Thien Friday, resulting in more U.S. casualties.

B-52 bombers struck Friday night with massive poundings of suspected artillery and rocket positions in the northern half of the zone. They returned today to hit at enemy base camps and troop concentrations about 38 miles west of Da Nang, 140 miles below the zone. Except on the northern front, ground action in South Vietnam continued in a relative lull with only small and scattered patrol skirmishes reported. South Vietnamese police released former Economics Minister Au Truong Thanh today after all day questioning about his alleged relations with the Communists. Accusations based on events in 1958 and 1959 were revived against Thanh recently when he tried to run for president as a peace candidate. U.S. authorities exerted pressure for his release. In the U.S., the Defense Department admitted for the first time that North Vietnamese troops cross fairly frequently between South Vietnam and Cambodia, which professes neutrality. That was the Pentagon's only comment on testimony by Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp, Pacific area commander in chief, that Communist troops from the North attack U.S. forces in South Vietnam from what amounts to a sanctuary in Cambodia.

Gromyko: 'Nothing New'

UNITED NATIONS — Most diplomats who heard Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in the U.N. General Assembly Friday said afterward his speech in the general policy debate contained little or nothing new on Vietnam or the Middle East. Some called it pure propaganda, timed for the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution Nov. 7. They described it as harder than previous speeches. U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, replying on the Assembly floor, accused Gromyko of "ritualistic name calling," "stale and false charges" and "inflammatory one-sided appeals" on the Middle East. Gromyko had denounced as a "soap bubble" U.S. efforts to make peace in Vietnam and warned that the fighting could "overrun new areas and draw new states into its orbit."

ABC TV Struck by Technicians

Technicians have struck the American Broadcasting Co. television and radio networks. Supervisory personnel immediately took over operations and kept programs on the air, but the walkout's effect was plainly visible to viewers. Members of the National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians (NABET) struck the company at 5:15 p.m. EDT, Friday, after negotiations between it and ABC and the National Broadcasting Co. broke off earlier in the day. NBC was not affected by the walkout. William Davis, regional NABET director, said the union set up picket lines at ABC stations in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Episcopal Sex Study

SEATTLE — Episcopal representatives Friday called for stepped-up church guidance on sexual conduct, ranging from premarital intercourse to homosexuality. Against some objections, delegates to the church's governing convention voted by a margin of 6 to 1 to launch a special commission study in the field for developing an educational program about it. Sharp opposition voiced by U.S. Dist. Judge Oliver Gasch, Washington, D.C., who said the starting of such a study implies a questioning of definite Biblical teachings against fornication and adultery.

Teachers' Pact Snags

NEW YORK — A tentative agreement ending New York City's teachers' strike was being put in writing Friday, as 1.1 million public school pupils prepared to return to regular classes Monday. But a hitch threatened to develop, with the Board of Education accused of dragging its heels. "Everyone wants to terminate this, but we cannot terminate it on the basis of broken promises," said Albert Shanker, president of the 49,000-member AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers. The union struck Sept. 11 but reached a tentative accord last Wednesday. At one point, Shanker said a union rank-and-file meeting Sunday would not be able to vote on the tentative contract. Approval is needed for a reopening of school Monday.

F111 Trails Flames

LAS VEGAS — The day before it was to be formally accepted by the Tactical Air Command, an F111 jet fighter-bomber developed a minor fuel leak on takeoff Friday and caused a spectacular air show over Las Vegas. A spokesman at the Nellis AFB base said the plane had developed a leak in its fuel system. The plane appeared to be on fire, but the flames were the jetted fuel burning behind it. Many residents of the city reported seeing the aircraft sweep across the sky, apparently in flames.

Racial Clash at School

MAYWOOD, Ill.—Six persons were seized Friday as police dispersed an angry rock-throwing, fist-fighting crowd which formed at Proviso East High School after a controversial homecoming queen election. The disturbance erupted after Principal Norman Green announced a new election for the school's homecoming queen and a four-girl court. Green said he decided to hold a second election after Negro students, who make up half of the school's 3,500 enrollment, protested the earlier election of five white girls to serve as queen and court.

Ban on Trucks Planned

BONN, Germany — Transport Minister Georg Leber announced a plan to ban trucks carrying heavy goods from West Germany's highways as a means of reducing traffic congestion and helping to eliminate deficits in the government-owned railways. The ban would affect the movement of such basic materials as wood, steel, stone and coal. Leber said the ban could be removed once the railways stopped losing money and better roads were built but he made no prediction when that might happen. Inauguration of his plan is anticipated in October.

5-Hour UAW Talks

DETROIT — The United Auto Workers Union and Ford Motor Co. went through five hours of contract bargaining Friday with UAW President Walter P. Reuther present for the first time since the union struck Ford Sept. 6. Result: No progress. No economic matters were discussed.

20 Antimissile Complexes

WASHINGTON — The nation's first system designed to intercept missile-carried nuclear bombs will consist of 15 to 20 antimissile complexes throughout the U.S. The Pentagon Friday declined to pinpoint specific antimissile battery locations, but said a breakdown of numbers and sites of antimissile complexes will be released after construction begins. Initial contracts in the $5-billion program will be awarded in about six months.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS

Saigon's 'Dragon Lady' Jailed

Combined News Services

It looks as if the Dragon Lady has fallen into police hands. Saigon police arrested a woman in connection with the shooting of a Nationalist Chinese intelligence officer and report evidence which points to her as the black-garbed terrorist who guns down victims from the back of a motorcycle.

Ballistics tests of her .45 caliber pistol showed the weapon was used to kill five persons, including two Americans, James R. Rodgers, Independence, W. Va., and George F. Herold, whose home town was not available.

Herold was an employee of the U.S. Navy; Rodgers was employed by the RMK-BRJ American construction combine.

The woman is Miss Phung Ngoc Anh, a 24-year old Vietnamese of Chinese descent, who was arrested Wednesday on charges that she shot the Chinese intelligence officer near his home in Cholon.

The Dragon Lady usually is dressed in black. Some descriptions have her hair short, some have it long; some say she wore a red scarf, some a blue one. A search of Miss Anh's apartment turned up one red and one blue scarf and two wigs, according to Loan. Miss Anh has admitted three of the shootings, and admitted being a Viet Cong who learned to shoot a .45 at a secret base in Cu Chi.

Miss Reagan said she does not talk about her father, a frequently mentioned possibility as the Republican presidential candidate next year. But she said she is occasionally asked about him. She added, "I do not anticipate that my father will be a candidate."

Miss Reagan was divorced several months ago from attorney David Sills. Earlier this year Gov. Reagan appointed Sills to the California State Republican Central Committee.

NO CHANGE

James R. Hoffa, Teamster Union president, was sentenced Friday for the second time to five years in prison and fined $10,000 on a 1964 conviction of fraud and conspiracy involving the multimillion-dollar union pension fund.

The sentencing judge in Chicago said the five-year term is to run consecutively with the eight-year term which Hoffa is serving in the federal prison in Lewisburg, Pa., for jury tampering in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Hoffa originally was sentenced on the pension fund charge to five years in prison and fined $10,000 but the sentence was vacated by the U.S. Supreme Court which ordered that a hearing be held to determine whether admitted government wiretapping was instrumental in collecting evidence against Hoffa. The judge said Friday that "the government had learned nothing new in an electronically eavesdropped conversation Dec. 2, 1963 between the defendant S. George Burris and Benjamin Sigelbaum."

Until 1958, the onetime shoeshine boy who rose to be a multimillionaire industrialist, counted among his close friends some of the nation's most prominent public figures.

Then a congressional investigation brought disclosures that Bernard Goldfine was over-generous with his gifts and favors to some noted personages, among them President Eisenhower and his assistant, Sherman Adams.

Those disclosures and subsequent events shattered his business empire of textile mills, hotels and valuable real estate. He was stripped of his wealth, served two jail terms, underwent mental treatment and was declared insolvent.

On Friday, 76 years old and practically penniless, Goldfine died in the small Back Bay Boston apartment he shared with his wife, Charlotte. Funeral will be held Sunday.

Circus Debuts at County Fair—And That's Not All

The circus goes to the fair today. Polack Brothers Circus will debut at 8 p.m. at the Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona, with performances to follow at the same time each night through the remainder of the fair — which will conclude Oct. 1.

If you can't wait for the fair to open, you can watch Southland dairymaids engage in the annual milking competition beginning at 4 p.m. in the livestock judging area.

WRITES TO SHRIVER

Hahn Blasts Boundaries Governing War on Poverty

By JIM McCAULEY
From Our L.A. Bureau

Supervisor Kenneth Hahn Friday branded as "ridiculous and stupid" the federal government's rigid boundary lines for the War on Poverty in Los Angeles County.

In a letter to Sargent Shriver, director of the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity, Hahn called for the government to revamp its concentrated employment program.

He urged that residence requirements be lifted so poverty families can qualify from any area.

"It seems to me ridiculous and almost stupid to have a person ... who lives on one side of 88th Street (on the boundary of a federally-defined poverty area) unable to get any help from this program unless he moves across the street," said Hahn.

He forecast that unrest and confusion will be generated by "these artificial barriers."

Hahn was referring to an $8.6-million federal program to employ 2,100 jobless. The program currently is confined to two areas, a 2½-square-mile section of Watts and a two-square-mile territory in East Los Angeles.

Shut out from participation are poverty families in most of Hahn's Los Angeles Gardena-Torrance district. Most of the Long Beach area also lies to the south of the designated areas.

The supervisor also termed the program "poorly organized" because it involves several layers of government.

"Employees are using money which should go to the poor for their salaries, offices and to rent equip-

Downey Set to Dedicate Its Latest Park

Downey's newest recreational facility, Treasure Island Park, will be dedicated Sunday at 2 p.m. according to James Ruth, city parks and recreation director.

The park is located west of Paramount Boulevard and a block south of Suva Street on Bluff Road, in northwestern Downey.

Taking part in the ceremonies will be Mayor Ben D. Corbin, members of the City Council and City Manager Oren King. Music will be provided by the Downey Youth Band.

Games and contests for all age groups will be held throughout the afternoon, with refreshments served following dedication ceremonies.

ty since Aug. 4, dedication was delayed for completion of landscaping and other improvements. Containing 17,400 square feet of floor space, the building was constructed at a cost of $632,614.

"The Town Center concept," according to City Manager R. L. Williams, "is based on the idea that a city's public service buildings should be the real heart of the community."

To date, a municipal library, headquarters fire station, and the city hall are located in the center. A Post Office is scheduled in the center and a community recreation building also is planned, Williams said.

Marine-Science Boat Sets School Cruises

Orange County's floating marine science laboratory will set sail Sept. 30 when it takes area teachers on an orientation cruise.

Student cruises will begin Oct. 2 with 20 school districts participating in the unusual program, which seeks to give youngsters greater insight into marine life.

14 Tabbed Century Freeway for Call by Grand Jury Route Selected

By RALPH McCLURG

From Our L.A. Bureau
Fourteen Long Beach-area residents have been nominated by judges to serve on the Los Angeles County Grand Jury.

They are Joseph F. Bishop, 4455 California Ave.; Walter C. Grushong, 4335 California Ave.; William Woelflin, 3919 Myrtle Ave.; Mrs. Violet Dovey, 3601 E. Ocean Blvd.; all long Beach; Harry S. Sherman, 22705-B Nadine Circle, Torrance.

John C. Herron, 3737 Atlantic Ave., Long Beach; Philo Murray, 920 Malgren, San Pedro; Mrs. Alba V. Protsman, 22809-A Nadine Circle, Torrance; Sam Feldman, 2832 Chestnut Ave., and Mrs. Marian Lloyd, 4320 California Ave., Long Beach; Fred P. Dobbs, 13915 Greenbriar Ave., Bellflower; Joseph John Buchler, 23039 Nadine Circle, Torrance; William Woelflin, 3919 Myrtle Ave., Long Beach, and J. Webster Smith, 57 Seawall Road, Portuguese Bend.

The list of 170 nominees will be pared to 34 by a selection committee Dec. 5. A drawing in January will determine the final 23 jurors and three alternates.

Engineers of the California Department of Highways will recommend adoption of the Orange-Green — most southerly alternate route of the easterly portion of the Route 42 (Century) Freeway — it was disclosed Friday.

Alhambra Man Sentenced to Gas Chamber

A 26-year-old Alhambra man, convicted of killing two persons during an armed robbery of a Stanton bar, Friday was sentenced to die in the San Quentin gas chamber.

However, the execution of William W. McClellan was ordered stayed by Orange County Superior Court Judge Samuel Dreizen until an automatic appeal of the sentence to the California supreme court.

McClellan was found guilty by a jury of shooting two patrons of the Gaslight bar Feb. 16 during a $1,200 hold up. His companion, Wayne McFarland, 21, also of Alhambra, was sentenced to life in prison.

way will extend from Central Avenue in Los Angeles eastward to San Gabriel River Freeway (Route 605) in Norwalk. That section of Route 42 Freeway west of Central Avenue was adopted by the California Highway Commission on Nov. 17, 1965.

The Legislature in 1965 deleted from the state highway system the portion of Route 42 between San Gabriel Freeway and Route 39 in Orange County.

At the public hearing on the proposed alternatives of the freeway in South Gate last February, representatives of Downey, Lynwood, Paramount and Bellflower supported the southerly recommended route, while Norwalk opposed it, as did Compton.

CITIES supporting the southerly route say it would bisect their northerly or southern boundaries, cause less damage to schools, homes, churches, commercial and residential areas, and would be the most effective for elimination of traffic congestion.

A communication received this week from J. A. Legarra, state highway engineer by officials of all cit-

County Fire Chief Calls for Annexing 63 Areas

From Our Los Angeles Bureau

Los Angeles County Fire Chief Keith E. Klinger Friday recommended that 63 privately-owned areas, including five in the Long Beach area, be annexed into a county fire protection district.

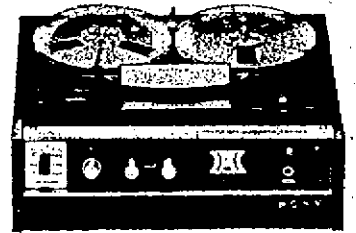

Among the targets: the San Gabriel River Channel Near Route 605 and the San Diego Freeway, plus between South Street and Artesia Boulevard; the Dominguez Hills area west of Alameda Street and Santa Fe Avenue; the Dominguez Channel area between Terminal Island Freeway and the Dominguez Channel at Sepulveda and Willow streets; and the Los Alamitos area between Pacific Coast Highway and the San Gabriel River and south of Seventh Street.

In a letter to county supervisors, Klinger noted that most of the unincorporated areas outside county fire protection districts are underdeveloped watershed or desert areas. They account for less than four per cent of the assessed valuation of the County, he said.

Sitar Master Loves Hippies, Hates Drugs

By BOB THOMAS

LOS ANGELES (UP) — To the Western eye, the instrument seems absurd, the bulbous gourds on each end making it look like some mixed-up barbell. But from the 19 strings of the sitar India-born Ravi Shankar can evoke harmony and dissonance that astound the ear.

Soft-spoken, strong-willed Shankar has rocked the U.S. music world with his sitar sound. The rage over his ragas free-swinging improvisations that can last two or three hours started two years ago when Beatle George Harrison became enamored with the sitar sound. He made a pilgrimage to India to study under Shankar, and Indian tones began seeping into the Beatle numbers.

THIS CAUSED Shankar to become elevated to minor sainthood in pop music. Teeny-boppers, flower children and other juvenile types began appearing at Shankar's U.S. concerts, bestowing on him the homage usually reserved for guitar plunkers in tight pants. The attention alternately pleases and appalls Shankar.

"I see no harm in using the sitar for pop music," he explained. "It is a versatile instrument that can be used for many things, just as the guitar can be played by everyone from Segovia to folk singers. But I would hate to see the sitar used solely to produce a pop sound. That is why in my concerts I stress the fact that it can be used for the classical form."

He may not be getting the message across to his most devoted followers, the hippies. They apparently enjoy his music for its fantasmagorical sound, rather than its classical quality.

"I love hippies," Shankar declared, "not because they are admirers of my music, but because of their philosophy, their awareness. But one thing I do not approve: their use of drugs. True contentment must come from within, and so I do not believe in smoking or drinking. Many of the hippies who come to my concerts are obviously stoned. They are so overcome by LSD or marijuana that they cannot possibly appreciate the music."

"Often during the performance they will light up and usually it is not tobacco. Then I must stop and announce that smoking is not allowed. I only want them to give me a chance to present my music properly, and for that I must have a couple of hours of sobriety."

SHANKAR, 47 is enormously disciplined and can sit cross-legged playing the four-foot sitar for three uninterrupted hours. Both his religious training and his lengthy career prevent his being overwhelmed by his newfound fame.

"Since the age of 9 I have been traveling," said the musician, who toured Europe and the U.S. as part of a dance troupe. At 15 he turned to the sitar and led a monastic life of 12 punishing hours daily practice until he mastered the instrument. For almost 20 years he has toured Western capitals, playing his ragas to increasing crowds.

Book Reviews: 'At Ease' With Ike

AT EASE: STORIES I TELL TO FRIENDS. By Dwight D. Eisenhower. Doubleday, $6.95.

The road between the wrong side of the tracks in Abilene, Kan., and the White House in Washington, D.C., is not a straight line. Nor did Dwight D. Eisenhower traverse it as the shortest distance between two points.

In "At Ease," the reader accompanies Eisenhower along some of the byways and interludes in his remarkable journey from America's rural heartland to the gridiron at West Point to his command of history's mightiest military alliance to the presidency.

London, The Philippines, Berlin, Frankfurt, Panama, San Antonio, Camp Meade are among the places Eisenhower traveled en route to the presidency, a destination he did not seek.

Along the way he met giants. Douglas MacArthur, Winston Churchill, John J. (Black Jack) Pershing, Franklin Roosevelt, George Patton, Joseph Stalin, Omar Bradley, George Marshall, Marshal G. K. Zhukov were among the men with whom he shared the road to an often uncertain and frequently difficult destiny.

There are little people, too. And little things. Packing again with Mamie to move to some new location. Being late to chapel formation at West Point. Playing Crokinole. Poker with Patton. Summer jobs.

There are soaring triumphs and black tragedies — victory in Europe and the death of a son.

Eisenhower's merits as troop commander, statesman, and man have long been debated by supporters and detractors. It cannot be debated, however, that his own personal thrust and an often capricious fate brought him to vital roles in contemporary history. Occasionally reluctant, he was to become a modern man for all seasons. "At Ease" tells the story of Ike's stories. Top-drawer fireside reading. — Lee Brown.

THIS ISLAND, NOW. By Peter Abrahams. Knopf, $5.95.

The South African-born Negro writer Peter Abrahams has written well in his novels of his native land — "A Wreath of Udomo" and "Path of Thunder" — and his "Tell Freedom" was a memorable autobiographical evocation of his early days. He has lived in Jamaica since 1955, when he was sent by the British government to help in the preparation of a report on the West Indies.

"This Island, Now" deals with the Caribbean he has learned to know as well as his own Africa. The president who has won independence for his West Indian island and introduced democracy to his people, is dead. The political leaders of the wealthy merchants, the Negro elite and the Negro poor are engaged in a struggle for power. The winner is the representative of the masses, Josiah, and Abrahams draws a powerful picture of the corruption of his idealism.

Such power struggles have torn apart many of the new nations in Abrahams' own Africa, and one hopes that he will do as fine a work someday on that as he has on the West Indies. — N.H.

THE OTHER CONQUEST. By John Norwich. Harper and Row, $6.95.

The Norman conquest of southern Italy and Sicily — "the other conquest" — was as important as the Normans' conquest of England. From the dramatic meeting of a group of Norman pilgrims with a Lon-bard revolutionary to the completion of the conquest in 1130, the drama, as told in John Norwich's history, is unflagging.

Halley Urges Unity to GOP Convention

can Assembly. That dictum would require all GOP nominees to support all others.

THE OFFICIAL PARTY, by law, must do that, Halley noted, but "we have no right to mandate individual candidates on what they do with respect to other candidates. We will not sit like Moses in judgment."

The question had obvious reference to possible conflict between U.S. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel and state School Supt. Dr. Max Rafferty for Kuchel's Senate seat next year.

Kuchel's wife, Betty, will greet today's luncheon session of the state committee; the senator is on a Vietnam tour. Rafferty will greet the group Sunday morning.

Halley told newsmen Reagan had privately assured him of his intention to fulfill his gubernatorial contract with the people of California — the same assurance Reagan has made publicly.

A favorite son, Halley said, is "a traditional American device, a political habit... and is different from a presidential nominee. It has no relation to a man projecting himself as a candidate."

The state chairman, asked whether Reagan's cutbacks in the Medi-Cal program would hurt him or other Republicans next year, thought that "no one action" would affect the picture.

RATHER, HE SAID, Reagan "had real coattails in 1966" and would have "enormous influence in 1968." Californians were attracted to Reagan, Halley said, because of his articulate expression on issues and his willingness "to enter combat on the ones that were important to him."

Convention highlight is a Reagan rally in Anaheim's brand new Convention Center tonight. The committee expects a capacity crowd of 9,000, many of whom will purchase $1 observer tickets.

The social highlight was a $75 per couple ball in the Convention Center's arena Friday night. Although Mrs. Shirley Temple Black, a recently announced candidate for Congress in San Mateo County, was on the guest list, it was announced Friday that she would not arrive here until this afternoon.

New Death May Help the Defense

ner's examiners could locate no bullet wound in the man's body, and cause of death still is listed as unknown.

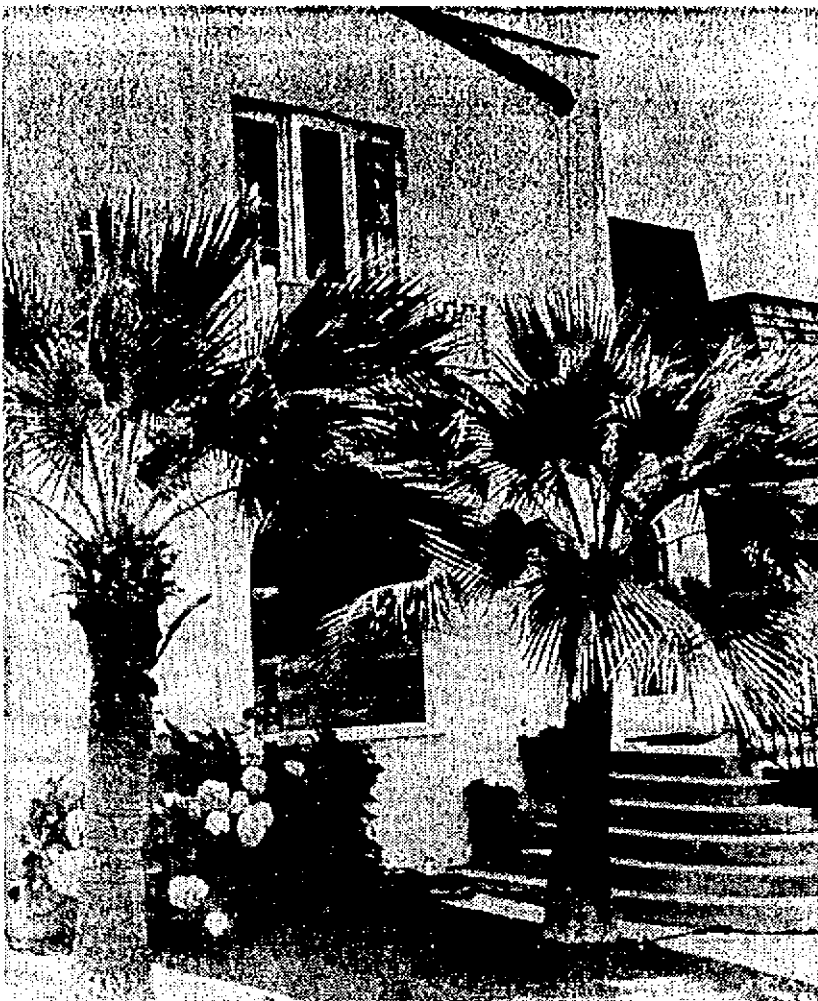

Yacht Club officials have reported an amount "in excess of $10,000" missing from club funds. Official auditors place the amount "in excess of $25,000."

Swearingen, a close associate of accused double-killer Jack Kirschke, was a retired Marine Corps master sergeant and employed by the Yacht Club almost two years. Kirschke was — and still is — the secretary of the swank yachting organization.

Ramsey, during Friday's Superior Court session in Los Angeles, said he and his client knew of Swearingen's death, but did not know of the $25,000 loss until they read it in The Independent Press-Telegram.

"I'll introduce this Swearingen thing into the trial, said. "Any time you can be sure," Ramsey blame anything on a dead man, you'd be a fool not to use it."

Meanwhile, Yacht Club officials declared there could be "no possible connection" between the loss of funds from the Yacht Club and the Kirschke trial. "Mr. Kirschke had no authority or jurisdiction over Swearingen, either as an officer or an individual," said one official.

Kirschke Neighbors Say They Saw a Man With Hairy Arms

and arm of a third person reaching towards a cupboard door.

She said she couldn't tell whether it was the arm of a man or a woman, but said, "It must have been the left arm."

Rowley and Mrs. Avery followed Charles Malaby, Kirschke's neighbor, who was the first of a series of Naples residents to be summoned to the stand by Asst. Atty. Gen. Albert W. Harris.

MRS. AVERY, who was still on the stand at day's end and is to be cross-examined Monday by defense attorney Albert C. S. Ramsey, was the 10th prosecution witness to be called so far in the trial that began its seventh week Friday.

Harris plans to call at least 29 more witnesses, according to a list his office drew up.

Introduction of the unidentified "left arm" was expected to provoke extensive cross-examination by Ramsey. The prosecution contends it may have been Kirschke's arm.

The suspended L.A. County deputy district attorney has based his defense on the claim that he was at International Airport and then driving to Las Vegas to attend a Rotary convention the night of the murder.

Harris questioned Mrs. Avery closely on whether she could recall seeing dishes or a candelabra on the Kirschke dining table. She said she could recall the table, but could not recall whether or not there was anything on it.

Police reports state that when investigators arrived after the murders were discovered, they found evidences of a candlelight dinner for two on the table, and a candelabra with the candles burned to their bases.

ROWLEY, a marketer of building materials who said he works out of his home, was called to the stand after the noon recess.

Kirschke kept his eyes averted from his former neighbor until Rowley was asked to point him out in the courtroom. Then the defendant looked up at Rowley with a wan smile, which faded as he turned away again.

Despite the somber circumstances of the trial, the day was not without flashes of humor brought on by the relationship of the dogs to the palm tree.

When Mrs. Avery was asked how long she had looked into the window—which she said was not covered by curtains—she tried to estimate it in seconds and then said, "It is a small dog."

This brought smiles from the jury and from Superior Judge Kathleen Parker.

WHEN HARRIS was placing his step-by-step questions to Rowley as to just where he was when he saw the strange man in the apartment and how long he looked, Rowley said his dog "hit this side of the tree first, then he came over here," pointing to the opposite side of the tree.

Even Kirschke smiled at that one.

Rowley said the man he saw was "rather stocky" and "had either a dark jacket or a dark shirt and dark trousers."

He said he also saw Mrs. Kirschke in the kitchen, facing the sink, but could not tell what she was doing.

When Ramsey tried to determine whether or not Mrs. Kirschke was fixing a drink, Rowley said he didn't know.

AT ONE POINT, Rowley's testimony varied from that which he gave to the County Grand Jury.

He had told the Grand Jury he saw Kirschke about noon April 7, and exchanged greetings with him when Kirschke was driving into the lane behind Kirschke's house and Rowley was backing out of Sicilian Walk in his car.

Rowley said Friday he couldn't remember for sure whether he saw Kirschke at noon or at 6 p.m. that day, when he said he backed out to go on another errand. This caused Harris to remind him of his Grand Jury testimony and statements he had made to investigators.

Rowley verified his earlier statement, but said he could not now remember for sure whether it was at noon or 6 p.m. he saw Kirschke.

Only a GOP President Can End the War, Percy Declares

By BOB SCHMIDT
From Our State Bureau

SACRAMENTO — Illinois Sen. Charles H. Percy said Friday that the election of a Republican president in 1968 is a prerequisite to ending the war in Vietnam because the Communists "do not trust the present leadership in this country and so will not negotiate."

At a press conference prior to addressing a Sacramento Republican Club dinner, Percy sharply criticized this country's escalation of its military effort in Vietnam saying, "Sacrifices are being made by American boys which should be made by Asians."

He repeated a position he has often taken — that war in Asia should be fought by Asians.

"Where are the Filipinos, the Malaysians, the Indonesians?" he asked. "Our great mistake is in just taking over fighting the war for them."

He said he saw no point in trying to turn back the calendar declaring, "We are there now, and we can't just pull out unilaterally."

"But," he added, "I do not think we should have made the original commitment without matching commitments being made by Asian nations whose sovereignty was threatened by the Communists."

PERCY SAID he had spoken recently with a scholar who had visited North Vietnam, and had been told that the first question asked by a Communist official was, "How can you expect us to negotiate with your leaders, to rely on their word at a conference table, when your own people do not believe them?"

Percy said he agreed with criticisms that President Johnson had not told the American people the entire truth about the war. He described as "unreasonable" the recently revealed negotiation offer made by the United States to North Vietnam.

"Turn it around 180 degrees and see how it sounds," he said. "Suppose the North Vietnamese said to us, 'Do not send any more men or supplies to Vietnam, cut off the men you now have there from all support, and then we will bargain with you.' Is that reasonable?"

Asked what kind of a platform on Vietnam the Republicans would draft at the 1968 convention, when his views differed so sharply from those of Gov. Ronald Reagan and ex-Sen. Barry Goldwater, he said he believed a compromise could be reached. He implied, however, that any such platform would be more likely to lean toward his views rather than the "hawkish" stance assumed by Reagan in recent statements.

The handsome, blondish senator, his deep voice sounding more like a television commentator's than some of the TV newsmen questioning him, once asked wistfully, "Isn't there anything we can talk about besides Vietnam?"

New York Medicaid 'Largest'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A report to the Interstate Conference of Medicaid showed Friday that New York has twice as many persons on its health care rolls as California, the nation's largest state.

Dr. Hollis Ingraham, New York's commissioner of health, told the conference that his state has 2.7 million people in its Medicaid program and expects to have between 6 and 8 million.

New York's budget for 1967-68 is $738 million.

Asked about his own political future, Percy said he was "not a candidate for anything," but would serve as his state's favorite-son presidential candidate "if it would serve the best interests of the party."

He used the occasion to laud Sen. Thomas Kuchel, the veteran Republican who is under fire from the conservative elements of his own party in California.

"He is a wonderfully skilled legislator who has done remarkable things for his state," Percy said.

Banker Sees Higher Rates for Mortgages

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Higher mortgage rates for Californians were predicted Friday at the real estate conference of the California Society of Certified Public Accountants.

Philip A. Barnett, senior vice president of California Federal Savings in Los Angeles, said he expected mortgage rates to "move up gradually throughout 1967 and most of 1968." He said the rate increase would be "somewhat accelerated" if Congress denies President Johnson's request for an income tax surcharge.

Viet Refugee Group Must Be Licensed

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A group of mothers trying to bring 59 South Vietnamese children into California were informed by Gov. Reagan Friday they must be licensed by the state.

Reagan told the American Mothers Inc. that once it was licensed by the State Department of Social Welfare, it would receive prompt attention.

Rockefeller Thinks Reagan Might Head Off Nixon's Bid

New York Times Service
NEW YORK — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said Friday that he thought the emergence of Gov. Ronald Reagan as a possible presidential nominee "could make it very difficult" for Richard M. Nixon to get the nomination "sewed up" before convention time.

In an interview here, Rockefeller also discounted the talk among local politicians that President Johnson's popularity had been declining.

THE GOVERNOR said this was not evident in the opinion polls.

"My impression is that President Johnson has come back and is holding his own," he added.

The governor, who has said that he will not run under any circumstances, gave no hint of a change in his own public stance. For several months, he has been urging the moderate wing of the Republican Party to united behind Gov. George Romney of Michigan. He believes that only such a unified position can stand a chance of keeping the conservative wing from running away with the convention as it did in 1964.

The failure of Romney's undeclared candidacy to catch fire earlier in the year caused concern among moderates that Nixon might wrap up the nomination long before the convention. Nixon has not had wide appeal in the moderate wing of the party.

THE RECENT decline in Romney's ratings, following his contention that he had been "brainwashed" on the Vietnam War, was considered by many moderates to be a blow to their stop-Nixon effort. But, Rockefeller ler saw new hope in the rise of Reagan's star.

Asked about the emergence of the California governor, Rockefeller said:

"Reagan must be, for Dick Nixon, a very unhappy development in terms of his own strategy and plans. Which of the two is stronger, I don't know. But I think it's a very tough thing for Nixon. It might make it very difficult for Nixon to get the thing sewed up before the convention."

Reagan has long contended that he was not interested in the nomination. But in late August, the conservative former movie star asked key conservatives to withhold support from Nixon.

SIGNS FOR $900 MILLION
Johnson Rips Fidel Before OAS Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — The hemisphere foreign ministers meeting opened Friday with charges of Castro aggression and surprise evidence that Cuba's arch-revolutionary, Ernesto (Che) Guevara, has joined guerrillas in the jungles of Bolivia.

President Johnson, addressing the 21-nation gathering of Organization of American States ministers, compared the "virulent form of subversion directed from Havana" with North Vietnam's drive against South Vietnam.

GOVERNMENTS "must meet terrorism and sabotage with resolute force where necessary," Johnson told the Latin American leaders at a White House luncheon. "Mutual support by neighboring countries strengthens their ability to deal with indirect aggression."

THE PRESIDENT said, however, that the best long-term guarantee against subversive threat from Premier Fidel Castro's Communist regime lies in the Alliance for Progress program of hemisphere economic and social development. With that, Johnson signed Congress-passed authorization for $900 million more for the Inter-American Bank for the next three years.

The three-day OAS conference was called by guerrilla-plagued Venezuela following continued Havana-supported terrorism in that country. Venezuela has a U.S.-backed nine-point proposal aimed at tightening the OAS containment programs against Castro.

"Interventionist and aggression acts are carried out against my country by the present Communist regime," declared Venezuelan Foreign Minister Ignacio Ibarren Borges.

HE FAVORED condemning Havana's export of insurrection and beeping programs for curbing free world trade with Cuba and for inter-American cooperation in anti-subversion policing. But none of the foreign ministers speaking during the day favored any use of military force against Castro.

Bolivia's foreign minister, Walter Guevara Arze, brought photographic and other evidence which he said proves "Che" Guevara joined insurrectionists in mountainous Bolivia.

"We think that he is alive in Bolivia now," the foreign minister said.

The photos and other documents were captured during the Bolivian armed forces' drive against what the foreign minister estimated is a band now numbering around 100 to 150 insurrectionists.

The Bolivian foreign minister said his government will handle its guerrilla problem and does not want OAS military intervention, but it does favor Venezuela's proposals.

Gloria Spurgeon (top), Lindsay Jones and Nancy Myers will head Cris Timmons "Chance to Dance" Sept. 30, 8 p.m., in the Long Beach City auditorium. An all-star array of 75 Civic Light Opera dancers and vocalists will be included in the program.

NO FREE MEDIA TIME for Cigarette Industry

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission ruled Friday that a broadcaster does not have to afford free time to spokesmen for the cigarette industry to counter antismoking announcements.

In a letter to Metromedia Inc., Washington, D.C., the commission said that a broadcaster "who has carried cigarette commercials has extensively covered one side of the issue on behalf of the cigarette companies, so that when he presents a significant amount of time devoted to the other side, he is under no obligation to present further materials on the first, pro-smoking side."

The commission letter, signed by its secretary, Ben F. Waple, was in answer to one from Thomas J. Dougherty, Metromedia assistant secretary.

Dougherty had questioned whether the FCC's fairness doctrine, as it is now applied to cigarette advertising, requires a broadcaster to provide time for cigarette organizations to respond to antismoking announcements.

The FCC recently decided that its fairness doctrine requires broadcasters airing cigarette commercials to provide time—free, if necessary—to antismoking advocates. The fairness doctrine requires broadcasters to give time to all sides of controversial issues.

First Lady Visits Thriving 'Exemplary' Indiana Town

By MARIE RIDDER
From Our National Bureau
COLUMBUS, Ind. — The Johnson administration Friday took the example of a small prosperous Indiana town to illustrate its answer to riots, urban overcrowding and unemployment.

The alternative to the shambles of our cities is called by the leaders of the Great Society "rural-urban balance — the minimetro" instead of the slum.

Mrs. Lyndon Johnson's visit to Columbus, "the Athens of the prairie," provided an opportunity to illustrate exactly the kind of community that incorporates the best dreams of the Great Society.

A vigorous industrial center of 25,000 servicing a rich farm land, Columbus's special quality can be credited to the initiative of one man, Irwin Miller, president of the Cummins Engine Co., the town's largest employer and one of the world's largest producers of Diesel engines. Miller, through the Cummins Foundation, has paid the architects' fees for the designs of all Columbus public buildings. The impetus of this one effort has inspired gifts from other industrial firms and the citizens themselves so that this small town now boasts 19 buildings by America's most distinguished architects.

THE beautiful building boom has what the Cummins people describe as a "rub-off effect" — better school buildings interest people in better schools, good public buildings influence better homes.

"Most of all," says a Cummins director, "A good community makes for a better community."

This better community has attracted three new major industries in the last year.

"A town such as this," said Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman, "is alive culturally, educationally, industrially. The spiritual is welded with a solid economic base. It offers the only alternative to urban chaos."

In simple language—they might be happier near the farm even if they have seen Paree because if Americans won't stay out in the unpolluted air a few minutes' walk or drive from their jobs, by the year 2000 we are going to be in real trouble.

Freeman, looking to the future, said, "Imagine 100 million more hot wriggling bodies crowded into our cities. Last summer's riots will look like tea parties unless we find an alternative to move people in the same space in cities."

"If this solution isn't made to work, crime and riots will increase as the sheer weight of humanity overcomes the ability of institutions to deal with them," he said.

The federal government is trying to find ways — such as urban renewal, loans to small businesses, financing water and sewer lines, imaginative arts programs — to make life in small towns appealing.

"It is hard to know," said Housing and Urban Development Secretary Robert Weaver, "which comes first: the industry to the town and then good schools, community recreational activities, or the reverse. This is like the chicken and the egg—we can't give a categorical answer."

Lady Bird Sends Best to Wedding

IRONWOOD, Mich. (UPI) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson expressed a fervent hope Friday that "everything will go well" for Secretary of State Dean Rusk's newly married daughter and her Negro bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Gibson Smith.

Mrs. Johnson spoke in this Michigan north woods community as she hurried through the third day of a busy four-day midwestern tour.

"I think so much of those Rusk children," Mrs. Johnson said. "I just hope everything will go well for those young folks — as we all do when one of ours get married."

TRIPLE-MURDER CASE

Secrecy Reigns at Trial

Los Angeles Superior Court Judge Richard Schauer Friday dropped a veil of secrecy over the triple-murder trial of an Alhambra hospital worker whose alleged victims included a 15-year-old Long Beach boy.

Judge Schauer ordered principals in the trial of William Dale Archerd, 55, not to discuss the case or make any personal observations outside of the courtroom.

Attorney Philip Erbsen asked Judge Schauer to allow him to review prosecution evidence against his client, and urged the court to appoint three medical experts and a private investigator to aid in the case. The trial, said attorney Erbsen, could last as long as four months.

Archerd is charged with killing two of his seven wives and his 15-year-old nephew—who lived in Long Beach—with injections of overdose amounts of insulin. The three were Mary Brinker Post Arden, 60, of Chino, his sixth wife; Zella Winders Archerd, 48, of Covina, the fourth wife, and Burney K. Archerd, 15, of 791 Via Carmelitos, his orphaned nephew.

Archerd also is suspected of four other murders—all by insulin injection—but they occurred outside of Los Angeles County.

Texas Laborer Admits L.B. Robberies, Check Forgeries

By WALT MURRAY

A Texas laborer admitted writing $40,000 in bad checks, including more than $1,000 worth forged on blank payroll checks he stole from Long Beach fence companies, detectives said Friday.

Jimmie Carroll Andrews, 33, of Wichita Falls, told police he wanted to "clear the whole thing up" after he was nabbed by Inglewood police at a former girl friend's apartment.

He had been trying to collect $800 the woman took when she left their Las Vegas motel room last week, detectives said. Police were called when a fight ensued.

Andrews, hooked on suspicion of forgery and burglary is accused of stealing 14 payroll checks, a check protector and a typewriter from Harris Fence Co., 6925 Atlantic Ave., on August 15 last year.

Sgt. J. W. Morrill said Andrews also admitted burglarizing the Guardian Fence Co., 1030 E. Spring St., of 45 payroll checks and a typewriter 12 days later.

Andrews gained more than $1000 in cash from Long Beach merchants using the stolen fence company checks, Sgt. Morrill said. He reportedly used his own driver's license as identification when cashing the checks.

Andrews, who estimated he made $40,000 in the last year cashing checks stolen in Long Beach and Texas, is wanted for forgery in Waco, San Antonio and Austin, Morrill said.

ANDREWS told police he burglarized the fence companies after having money problems while working as a refiner worker in Amarillo.

When he returned to Texas, he told detectives, he looted several electrical and construction firms of more checks, check protectors and typewriters.

He said he forged some of the checks with his brother now serving time in Texas State Penitentiary for forgery. Andrews himself jumped a $1,000 bail in Corpus Christi while awaiting trial for forgery, detectives said.

Andrews told police he returned to California Saturday to retrieve the money he lost in Las Vegas.

UAW Strike Shrinks New Car Stocks

Though the United Auto Workers' strike against the Ford Motor Co. has severely limited their stocks of new cars, Long Beach-area Ford dealers reported Friday that introduction day of new models was drawing good attendance.

Dealers estimated their stocks of 1968 models at levels ranging from approximately 15 per cent to about 50 per cent of a normal month's supply.

Some planned to sell out all but one showroom sample of each model, but others said they would market all the cars they have.

Before the UAW strike stopped production, Ford reported turning out 85,000 vehicles in the 1968 model line, compared with 177,000 produced last year by the time 1967 models were introduced.

Renewal Project Audited

Total investment in the West Beach redevelopment project as of June 30 was $8,084,419, City Auditor Murray T. Courson reported Friday.

Annual audit of the Long Beach Redevelopment Agency for the 1966-67 fiscal year revealed that assets of the redevelopment fund totaled $11,081,839 as of June 30, Courson said.

All privately owned land within the 21-acre West Beach area, bounded by Ocean and Seaside boulevards, Magnolia Avenue and Los Angeles River, was acquired by the agency during the fiscal year, the audit said.

ALL DEMOLITION was completed, except for removal of streets, which was postponed because of possible drainage problems.

The audit noted that $9,485,000 in bonds were sold to finance the redevelopment project. From March 29, 1965, to June 30, 1967, expenditures totaled $8,084,419, leaving an unexpended balance of $1,400,580, Courson said.

During the 1966-67 fiscal year, Courson said, disbursements totaled $328,550 for acquisition of real estate, $1,090 in relocation costs, $26,193 in disposition costs and $80,643 in site clearance and operating expenses.

Income during the fiscal year totaled $95,612, and represented interest earnings on agency funds.

Supervisor Renamed to Air Council

Orange County Supervisor William J. Phillips, of Fullerton, has been reappointed to the Southern California Aviation Council, an advisory body which he headed as president for three years.

Supervisors signed his commission to a new four-year term to represent the board.

Jack Miller of Garden Grove, Fred Clatworthy of Anaheim and Leo Launer of Fullerton also serve the council, which coordinates aviation matters for Southern California governmental agencies, including cities and counties.

Variety Show in Auditorium

Triplets Chosen to Reign Over Picnic for Twins

Quite naturally, a twosome usually rules over the annual picnic of the Long Beach-Lakewood area Twins' Mother's Club.

This year, though, when names were drawn, the choice went tradition one better.

So the 9-year-old Milliron triplets — David, Diane and Darlene — will be the king and queens when the club's eighth annual picnic is held at 11 a.m. Sunday at Newport Dunes.

Among the duties of the three, children of Mrs. Wayne R. Milliron, of 11655 Arnansas St., will be leading the picnic parade and presiding over the games and other activities.

The club, which was organized in 1959, is designed to assist mothers in the unique problems with raising twins and triplets.

Long Beach Gets 4th Award for Pedestrian Safety Walk

For the fourth consecutive year, Long Beach has received an award for its pedestrian safety achievements in the national program of the American Automobile Association.

A plaque commemorating the city's 1966 Pedestrian Protection Program was accepted Friday by Police Chief William J. Mooney, at a luncheon in the Apple Valley Steak House attended by numerous city officials and others engaged in safety work.

The association's special citation was won through cooperative efforts that included the Long Beach Safety Council, Board of Education, Municipal Court, Police Department, the city administrative and traffic engineering services, civic organizations and interested private citizens.

THE AWARD WAS based on the coordination of traffic safety education, enforcement and engineering. The city received an achievement rating of excellent in accident records category, outstanding for public education programs and above average for law enforcement.

Currently the city is organizing an autumn "Look Live — Walk Wisely" program to counter seasonal upward trends that traditionally occur in pedestrian traffic casualties in the months of November and December.

Also continuing as part of the Long Beach year-round safety activities are provision of safe-route maps for school children, back-to-school and bicycle safety, teen-age conferences and reaction demonstrations for all age groups that illustrate walking, running and driving dangers in traffic.

Happy Equinox! T's Autumn Again

By GEORGE LAINE

If you'll put down the swim suit, beach towel and picnic basket for a minute, we'd like to tell you that today is Saturday, Sept. 23. Coincidentally, it's also the first day of Fall.

With the weather maintaining summerlike temperatures, you almost have to wonder if the calendar-man isn't, maybe, a month early with his declaration of arrival of the autumnal equinox.

WHAT'S HAPPENING WITH the weatherman is that the sun — throughout today — is lodged over the equator, giving a day of uniform length around the world. Each hemisphere receives the same amount of light and heat from the rays of the sun today.

To nonmeteorologists, fall has different portents. It's a season for Halloween, football, Thanksgiving, falling leaves, pre-Christmas sales and a lot of other annual events. It also heralds the arrival (on Oct. 13) of the only remaining Friday the 13th in calendar 1967.

Everybody talks about fall—including the weatherman—but scarcely anyone does anything about it. That'll change today.

Beginning at 4 p.m., in the triangular intersection of Altadena Drive, Midwick Drive and Roosevelt Avenue in Altadena, the first annual Nature Pilgrimage and All-Night Love-In will begin. It's dedicated to the beginning of autumn.

General to Probe Military Housing

effort to open all available housing to servicemen of racial minorities, principally Negroes, through a program of persuasion, action through civil authorities or, as a last resort, the placement of rentals "off limits" to all servicemen. California is the subject of particular attention in the drive.

A spokesman at the Long Beach Naval Base said Ekman plans to talk to Navy commanders in Long Beach and Los Angeles Monday, as well as to a group of Negro servicemen stationed at the base. He'll also meet with reporters Monday.

The Pentagon official will arrive in Los Angeles Sunday, and will be met at International Airport by officials of the California Real Estate Association. The association is holding a convention in Los Angeles next week.

A spokesman for the association said CREA officials will discuss the possibility of working with the Defense Department "to help solve this problem (of restricted housing)."

During his stay, Ekman is expected to visit his parents in Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Ekman, 2151 McNab Ave.

Cypress Youth Talks to South Viet Students

By BARBARA KNEIS

Twenty-year-old Robert Campbell of Cypress may not be a doctor, but he spent a week in South Vietnam taking the pulse of university students there.

His conclusions — generally speaking — were gloomy.

Students in the war-ripped country, even pro-government ones, were pessimistic about the general situation and dubious that United States military presence was aiding it.

CAMPBELL, A MEMBER of a student, fact-finding delegation who toured Southeast Asia with State Department authorization, talked with some 100 students including representatives of Buddhist, anti and pro-government organizations.

The history major at University of California Irvine said the overall feeling seemed to be the U.S. was hurting their country economically as well as culturally. "South Vietnam used to export rice. Now it has to import it from Thailand," he said he was told.

Campbell also noted the "appalling 20,000 to 1 patient-doctor ratio, adding that the country's doctors, as sparse as they are (only 200 are allowed to train annually and of these only 10 per cent graduate) were being pushed into the army, leaving the civilian population with virtually none."

HE SAID A FREQUENT comment of the students he met was that the average South Vietnam peasant thinks the Americans are "just another group of Frenchmen who happen to speak a different language."

"As a representative of an international group that works with the peasants put it, 'the villagers are pro-American when the Americans are there. Pro-government when the government comes in. Pro-Communist when the Communists are there. When everyone is gone, they just grow rice,'" Campbell said.

Although the visit did not change his position — he is ideologically opposed to the war — Campbell said he did not think the U.S. should move out without establishing a stable government.

He said the students he spoke with did not recognize the newly elected government as truly representative of the people, in view of the fact that the Buddhists, nationalists and nationalists were banned from running.

"A LOT OF THE students think the best thing we could do is set up a government which would represent all these different factions," he added.

The mood, Campbell said, seemed to be in favor of de-escalation.

"If bombing is stepped up, many of the students feel, it will polarize the population and turn them against the Americans."

Campbell also had a few comments to make about U.S. embassy officials in Vietnam for their "general aloofness to the Vietnamese people."

He told of one instance when a member of his delegation brought a Vietnamese girl to an embassy party. Officials remarked in front of her how they couldn't wait to get out of her country.

Pleased with the frankness of the Vietnamese students, Campbell has begun to coordinate plans to set up an international student liaison, to be operated solely by student governments.

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF

Costa Mesa Boy, 19, Dies as Pickup Truck Overtakes

GLEN J. ASKEW

Glen Askew in New Post at Douglas

Glen J. Askew, an 18-year employee of Douglas Aircraft Company, Friday was named director of operations control for the company's Huntington Beach missile and space systems division.

The appointment was announced by J. L. Sigrist, vice president of the division.

Askew's duties will include direction of financial management of the division including work requirements, schedules, direct and indirect budgets, program performance evaluation, cost proposals and special cost studies.

A graduate of UCLA who took a masters degree at USC, Askew lives in Newport Beach with his wife and family.

House Looted

A power saw, a color TV set and $10 in pennies were stolen from the Fred Ludwig residence, 1611 Stanton Place, Long Beach police said Friday.

Relocation of Church OK'd by L.B. Planning Agency

With the help of Councilman Emmet M. Sullivan, Rev. N. B. Morris has won Long Beach Planning Commission approval to move his church to 1152 E. 19th St.

The church is being moved from 1900 Cerritos Ave. because that property has been purchased by the city to make way for expansion of 19th Street Park.

On Aug. 15, the City Council approved the move on condition that Rev. Morris would bring the church building, which includes a second-floor residence, up to building-code standards and would get a variance from the Planning Commission because it did not have required off-street parking.

Rev. Morris told planning commissioners that the church now has a congregation of about 20 and a capacity for about 75.

Councilman Sullivan, in whose district the church is located, urged the commission to grant the request pointing out the church is "of modest size," and requires little parking.

"I see no problem in an

RETIREMENT PROGRAM

Stanton police, firemen and other city employees will vote in separate balloting on a proposed state retirement program authorized by the city council this week.

Councilmen, who want the program to take effect next January, estimate the cost to the city around $55,000 annually.

RETIREMENT DINNER

Milton Breivogel, who is retiring after 14 years as director of the Los Angeles County Regional Planning Commission, will be honored Thursday at a dinner at the Chalon Mart Restaurant in Los Angeles.

Recently elected to the national board of governors of the American Institute of Planners, Breivogel is also a director of the National County Planning Directors Assn. and a past president of both the Southern California Planning Congress and the California Planning Directors Assn.

HONORARY MAYOR

Movie and Television actor Don Knotts will receive an Honorary Mayor certificate Monday from the Cypress city council. Knotts is one of several Hollywood personalities who own the new Cypress Plaza Shopping Center.

Ceremonies will be held at noon on the steps of the new city hall.

Hospital Gets New Optic Wonderbeam

Long Beach Memorial Hospital Friday announced that it has purchased a Zeiss photocoagulator for use in repairing detached retinas and in treating both tumors and vascular conditions in the eye.

Harry C. Hachmeister, chairman of the hospital's board of directors, said the $16,000 equipment has been installed and is now on an operational basis at the hospital.

The German-made device employs an optical system to produce a beam of light — more versatile than the Laser beam — which is converted into heat and which can be focused into an area as minute as two-tenths of a millimeter in diameter.

The unit is to be used to repair and seal small perforations in the retina, and to destroy tumors, the hospital official said.

The machine's light source is provided by xenon gas.

L.B. Man Trying for Bridge Team

Long Beach's Harold U. Guiver, of 5107 Vista Hermosa, is one of 10 West Coast bridge experts competing in Atlantic City, N.J., for places on the six-man U.S. Olympic bridge team.

A world-ranked contract bridge player, Guiver is paired with Gerald Bare of West Covina in a 32-player field from which the team will be picked after a 10-day tournament.

Pairings for other Western experts are: Lew Malhe, Los Angeles, and Ron von der Porten, San Francisco, who head the contingent; Erik Paulsen, Fullerton, and Hugh Ross, Sausalito; Harvey Cohen and Maury Genud, Los Angeles; and Mike Lawrence and Lew Stansby, Oakland. Downey's Mike McMahan is paired with Paul Levitt of New Orleans.

Each pair will oppose the other pairs. For the final five days of play the field will be reduced to 10 pairs.

Choices for the team are to be announced by non-playing team captain Julius Rosenblum following the final session, a week from Sunday.

Plan Youth Camps in Orange County

The 300-acre Joplin Ranch, maintained by Orange County on a brush-covered hillside of Trabuco Canyon, will be developed with at least three youth camps, according to county supervisors.

They hired the planning firm of Salkin Engineering Co. of Orange to make a schematic development plan for acreage they admitted "will be difficult to plan because of its steep terrain."

In other action this week, supervisors employed the architectural firm of Griffin and Banks of Buena Park to design an addition to the Albert Sitton Home for Dependent Children.

THE 35-BED capacity of the home, located south of the Orange County Medical Center, will be increased to 80 with 8,000 square feet of floor space in the addition, which may cost $160,000.

The boy's ranch in the hills has been in operation for a decade; youths assigned there by courts helped in construction of buildings and its facilities.

The plan is to have boys build Camp No. 2 while the study is under way. Future development on sites pinpointed by the study would be completed by the boys after site development work is done by machines.

TRADITION EMPHASIZED BY BELLFLOWER CHURCH
Groundbreaking Set for $300,000 Calvary Baptist Sanctuary

1,550 Seat Sanctuary for Calvary Baptist

Ground has been cleared and construction is slated to begin within a month on what is termed the largest independent Baptist church sanctuary in Southern California — a $300,000 edifice for Calvary Baptist of Bellflower.

The stately Southern Colonial design sanctuary will seat 1,048 on the ground level and an additional 500 in the balcony. It will be the fifth building completed at the thriving church, located at 14719 Ardis Ave., near the intersection of Compton Boulevard and Clark Avenue.

Construction will be on approximately four acres carrying the church through to Clark Street.

Comment on the familiar traditional appearance of the sanctuary, as compared to the trend toward modernity, the pastor, Dr. H. Frank Collins, said: "The architecture perhaps reflects my Southern background, being of the great Southern Colonial tradition. But it also reflects the conservative theology of Calvary, contending for the old established thought concerning the Word of God as opposed to the new contemporary theology."

A 60-foot tower will surmount the sanctuary, with the cross 109 feet above the ground. Architectural firm is Jones & Poper of Long Beach. Completion is anticipated in time for Easter, 1968.

Calvary Baptist has grown to a membership of 1,200, with an average Sunday School attendance of 876 so far this year. Other members of the church staff are Joe Thomas, associate; Jon Larson, minister of youth; Duane Sheets and James Clark, music; and Mmes. Dorothy Kiper, Tommie Barbour and Bernice Collins, office staff. Walter Lance is chairman of the Deacons, and Don Nyenhuis chairman of the Trustees.

The present sanctuary will be converted into a youth center office compound.

Dr. Collins came to the church in June, 1963 from Baptist Bible College of Springfield, Mo., where he was assistant to the president. His ministry has been marked by a strongly conservative emphasis, with a great deal of attention to the Sunday School program, youth activities and musical program.

PRESSURE FOR RIGHT OF PRIESTS 'TO MARRY' BUILDS UP AGAIN DESPITE POPE PAUL'S 'NO'

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK — The wide-open discussion broke off temporarily when Pope Paul VI spoke a firm "no" to the idea. But now, a few weeks later, the conversation is rising again.

"The subject will not die down," says Rev. John A. O'Brien of Notre Dame. He says freedom for priests to marry is, in Victor Hugo's phrase, an unstoppable idea whose "time has come."

"Instead of removing celibacy from discussion, the attempt to do so has had the opposite effect," Father O'Brien told a symposium on the matter at Notre Dame early this month.

It was the first national gathering of priests dealing specifically with the topic, and the prevailing view expressed was that western priests should have the option of marrying, or staying single, as they chose.

Urging that "free choice for free men" be substituted for "the present compulsory celibacy," statement by leaders of the sponsoring organization, the National Association for Pastoral Renewal, said:

"Christ never made permanent bachelorhood a necessary condition for the priesthood. Neither did the apostles, almost all of whom were married. Indeed in the early church not only priests but bishops were generally married."

The new synod of bishops, convening Sept. 29 in Rome, was asked to re-examine the issue. "They must not let themselves be tied up by previous decisions of the Pope," the statement said. "Let them realize the church universal is their responsibility, every bit as much as it is the Pope's."

Only about two months before, in the face of swelling debate about the ban on marriage for priests, Pope Paul had issued his encyclical saying the Church "cannot weaken her faithful observance" of the celibacy tradition.

The general ban in the church's Western, or Latin rite, against priests marrying dates to the Lateran Council in 1139. It is not a dogma, but a working regulation, and thus changeable.

A major argument for the discipline has been that it allows priests to dedicate themselves more fully and efficiently to serving God and others. It also is more economical, since unmarried priests don't have to support families.

Sometimes cited is St. Paul's advice that "it is well for a man not to touch a woman," although Paul pointed out he was not laying down a command, and only wished others were celibate like himself.

"But each has his own special gift from God, one of one kind and one of another," the apostle writes. "For it is better to marry than to be aflame with passion."

Analyzing Scriptural teaching on the subject, Rev. Ignatius Hunt, a visiting Catholic professor at Chicago Theological Seminary, says that Paul's references have "nothing to do with clerical status."

"In no case in the Bible can it be said that celibacy is linked to the ministerial priesthood in any formal manner," he told the Notre Dame meeting.

He said "the only possible real Gospel recommendation for celibacy" appears in Matt. 19:10-12, in which Jesus endorses celibacy only for "those to whom it is given."

Scripture shows that, undertaken willingly, celibacy can be "a sign, a witness and a means of full dedication," Father Hunt said, but "it remains an option as far as the Biblical information is concerned."

In the present climate, advocates of change point to a downturn in candidates for the priesthood. They cite celibacy as a deterrent, and also note the rise in defections from the priesthood to marry.

Vatican officials have said that about 4,000 priests in the last three years have asked to be released from celibacy vows to marry, and about 90 per cent of them have been laicized — discharged from priestly functions.

TO PRODUCE TV BIBLE SHOWS

Dick Anthony, minister of music for the past four years at First Baptist Church of Lakewood, will leave in October to become executive producer of the new television division of Radio Bible Class, it was disclosed this week.

Conducted by Rev. Richard De Haan, the well known program is heard on 650 stations around the world. The TV section will be located in St. Petersburg, Fla., where weekly telecasts will be taped in color before an audience in Bayfront Center Auditorium, then aired nationally on Sunday afternoons. Anthony will direct the music and appear as a singer, while his wife, Doti, will be featured at her harp.

The Second Samoan Congregational Church of Long Beach, a group of some 200 area Samoans who have been meeting informally at the Salvation Army, will be accepted into the United Church of Christ denomination Sunday in a 7 p.m. service at Woodruff United Church of Christ, 3908 Woodruff Ave.

The bilingual service will feature two Samoan choirs and one English choir. Rev. Dr. Bert Tofae Williams will be installed as pastor. A Samoan style reception will follow.

The Samoan language is one of eight heard in the United Church of Christ in the Southland. The 10-year-old denomination resulted from a merger of most of the Congregationalists with the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

CONFIDENT LIVING Things to Do if Discouraged

By NORMAN V. PEALE

Ever feel like not trying any more? Who hasn't. People say they've had it; they work and struggle and just get nowhere. So they are discouraged and feel like giving up, like chucking the whole business.

It is only human to feel discouraged at times but you should never think of giving up — in many cases the low moment is the beginning of better things. A crisis in the life of a famous basketball star, Bill Bradley, provides an interesting example of this fact.

In Bradley's freshman year at Princeton difficulties and self-doubts almost got the best of him. Studies gave him real trouble, had him deeply worried; and he wasn't sure he would make the basketball team. An oral exam in French brought things to a head. The professor could not seem to make any question simple enough for Bill to answer it. "I left the classroom discouraged," he relates, "and returned to my room. I threw myself down on the bed and let my emotions take over." He says that he nearly wept in sheer misery, frustration and despair.

BUT IN this black despondency he presently had a thought. It is curious but if you just hold on in despondency you are likely to have a creative thought that brings light out of darkness. He decided to play a record received a few days before from the Fellowship of Christian Athletes — a recording made by famous athletes relating their personal experiences. He placed the needle on the band where he would hear Bob Pettit, a professional basketball player whom he greatly admired. He listened closely as Pettit talked of his faith in a straightforward, non-pious way.

Suddenly Bill Bradley perceived what his trouble was: he was "mentally and spiritually bankrupt." Prayer and meditation and Bible reading, he says, "had been buried in a file with some other items labeled 'Things I know I should do.'" He determined to put a stop to what he calls his "foolishness." He prayed long and sincerely for help and guidance.

From then on things took a definite turn for the better. He at once started regular Bible reading — and soon noticed that he now found it not a duty but a new kind of adventure. He rapidly developed all the inner strength needed for attaining high goals, both scholastic and athletic.

By his senior year many sports experts rated Bill Bradley the best college basketball player in the country. In the fall of his senior year he played on the winning U.S. team in the Olympic Games in Tokyo. That same season he won a Rhodes Scholarship. This was the fellow who three years previously was on the verge of giving up!

You should never let discouragement make you stop trying. It is an emotional response and prevents you from considering your problem rationally. There is an ebb and flow in the emotional history of every human being, linked to rhythms pervading nature everywhere. Depression and elation alternate; and in the ebb of subjective depression one sees his problems magnified and distorted. This is not to say there may not be objective, practical difficulties in a given situation. And we sometimes do find that we have actually bitten off more than we can chew. In that case a change of program or objective will be needed. But discouragement is the wrong atmosphere for deciding anything. It distorts judgment. The first thing to do when you feel discouraged is to remind yourself of this distortion.

THE NEXT thing is to reach for fresh inspiration to change perspective and release you from negative condition. Shift your focus. And in doing this it helps to think about God instead of your troubles.

When the going gets rough and problems accumulate, Miss Sue Waddell, a great leader in interdenominational church work, says to herself, "Swing out in God." And she repeats those words every few moments for a time. This gives her a feeling of having a grip on things. It is a curious phrase. To me it suggests taking altitude away from discouragement and flinging yourself out into God's great helpfulness. "Swing out..." that's it.

Another thing is to take periods of despondency as opportunities for self-discipline. "You just have to develop self-discipline," says Bill Bradley. "... a self-discipline that makes you practice in one spot until you make 25 baskets... not to go to bed until you've finished a class assignment... get up at 9 a.m. on Sunday and go to church instead of sleeping in..." Develop the self-discipline to carry on no matter what, and discouragement will evaporate. Encouragement will come up like a light.

LEADS CRUSADE

Robert M. Whitsett, director of evangelism for Seventh-day Adventist churches in Arizona, who has traveled with the gospel through 56 countries, continues the "Search for Truth" crusade at Long Beach Adventist Church, 1001 E. Third St., 7 p.m. nightly except Sunday and Thursday. Color films, music, nursery care are on the agenda.

Bellflower Ordination

First Christian Church of Bellflower, Clark and Walnut Streets, will be the scene Sunday at 2:30 p.m. of the ordination service of Wayne A. Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Long, 15123 Cornuta Ave.

LONG

One of the first graduates of Bellflower High School, Long has already served churches in Texas, where he attended TCU, and one in Mexico. He has accepted a call to Bethany Christian of Dallas for full-time ministerial duties.

Following the service there will be a reception for Long and his bride Lynda, also a TCU graduate and a student at Brite Divinity School.

Limits on Speaking Out Specific Policy Judgments Held Wrong

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

It's right and proper for church leaders to speak out on public issues when they have a well-considered moral judgment to express. But this doesn't mean they should pop off with pronouncements on every conceivable subject or attempt to dictate specific policy decisions to public officials.

That admonition comes from a man who can't be written off as a disgruntled right-winger — Dr. Paul Ramsey, professor of religion at Princeton University. Dr. Ramsey is one of America's most respected Protestant theologians, and is particularly noted for his application of Christian ethical principles to contemporary public problems.

In a new book entitled "Who Speaks for the Church?" (Abingdon Press), he says that both "liberal" and "evangelical" Protestant leaders have been guilty in recent years of saying too much on too many topics.

He is aware that his criticism "may simply be used as ammunition by right-wingers who on every occasion attack the National Council of Churches and World Council of Churches irrationally and indiscriminately."

HE REGRETS this, and emphasizes that he does not want to see churches retreat from a responsible engagement with controversial issues such as the conduct of the war in Vietnam and the struggle for racial justice at home. Nor would he confine religious statements on these matters to "irrelevant generalities."

But he does believe that churchmen must learn to chart a course between pious platitudes on the one hand and "particular policy decisions" on the other.

He calls attention to a growing disposition on the part of church councils and denominational conventions to adopt resolutions on a vast variety of intricate national problems on which religious leaders, as such, have no particular competence to formulate specific public policies.

Dr. Ramsey asserts — and any reporter of religious news can corroborate — that many of these pronouncements are adopted by a relatively small number of churchmen after a minimum of serious debate. Often, they are drafted by anonymous staff members and presented to national assemblies under circumstances which leave rank-and-file delegates with little choice except to rubber stamp them.

AS A glaring example of this weakness for shooting from the hip at every target in sight, he notes that the Conference on Church and Society, sponsored by the World Council of Churches in Geneva last year, managed in only two weeks of deliberations to arrive at specific, detailed "conclusions" on no less than 118 highly complex public questions, ranging from the best way to make peace in Vietnam to the suppression of crime. Dr. Ramsey was at the Geneva conference: it appears to have been the experience that prompted his book.

He urges church leaders to display "much greater reticence in reaching particular conclusions" and to avoid suggesting that there is only one "Christian" solution to a problem on which "there may be legiti-mate differences in practical, prudential judgment." "Our quest should be to find out whether there is anything especially Christian and especially important that churchmen as such may have to say in the public forum," he says. And church pronouncements, when made, should be concerned with the general direction of "public policy" rather than specific "directives" for legislative and administrative action.

He suggested that Protestants could learn a lot from the example of the recent Vatican Council, in which the world's Catholic bishops sought to speak deliberately and deeply on a relatively few subjects rather than to put in their two cents on every current question.

"FOR CHRISTIANS to say 'no' to outrageous crimes such as genocide is one thing, while for them to say 'yes' or 'no' to the recognition of Red China is quite another thing," he says. "The one is a fit subject for church pronouncements; the other is not."

Above all, he concludes,

Mission Fete

FROM THE PULPIT

The world's greatest social worker was Jesus. No one ever cared as much for the poor and the sick as He. But He never led a demonstration.

The world's greatest psychologist was Jesus. He understood human behavior more than any one who ever lived. But He never advocated the breaking of the law nor the lowering of standards of conduct.

The world's greatest teacher was Jesus. No man was over his peer as a teacher. And He taught reformation through a spiritual kingdom, and condemned Peter for resorting to the sword.

The world's greatest mind was Jesus. Here was supreme intelligence. And He believed the words of the prophets to be divinely inspired; the miracles of the Old Testament to be real; the reality of heaven and hell; and salvation through the covenant of the blood.

The light of the world is Jesus. Come to Calvary! Calvary is for you!

APARTHEID OPPOSING BISHOP HERE

Bishop C. Edward Crowther, who was expelled from South Africa because of his outspoken opposition to apartheid, will make his second Southern California Appearance Sunday at 4:30 p.m. in the Lakewood Village Community Church, 4919 Centralia St., where he will address the area meeting of the Council of the Community Churches. The public is invited to hear him speak.

Bishop Crowther, born in England, became an American citizen and at one time was Episcopal chaplain at UCLA, before serving as Anglican Bishop of the Kimberley area in South Africa.

TOP VIEWING TODAY

5:30 P.M.—FOLK WORLD OF JIMMIE RODGERS, with Gloria Tracy in season premiere, Ch. 5 (See Tele-Vues).

RODGERS TO SMILEY Ch. 2—Its' Solid Lineup of Music

By TERRY VERNON

KTLA, Ch. 5, has programmed straight musical programs tonight from 5:30 to 9:30.

Beginning with the premiere of the Folk World of Jimmie Rodgers, with Gloria Tracy, at 5:30, other shows are: Grand Ole Opry with Roy Acuff at 6; Melody Ranch, with Gene Autry hosting the hour show featuring a tribute to Smiley Burnett; Musical Varieties, with Paul Wilcox and Art Van Damme, 7:30, and Upbeat with Don Webster, Lesley Gore, Keith Robbie Porter, the Rich Kids and the Outsiders, at 8:30. They're all in color.

DEATH VALLEY DAYS starts its 16th year on TV next month. The program has been around so long—it began on radio in 1930—that producer Robert Stabler has decided to remake some of the early black-and-white episodes in color in Death Valley.

The program has not been filmed in Death Valley for several years since local sales of scripts have varied. Of the 26 episodes being filmed for the 1967-68 season, some are at Kanab, Utah; Old Tucson, Ariz.;

mates of what the cost of ETV per year will be vary from $100 million to $200 million a year.

The Great Race: Twins by Half-Game

Rams Rip Vikes, 39-3, In Flag-Draped Win

By AL LARSON

The Rams, 40 men with a mission, continued their attempt to scale championship heights by turning the Minnesota Vikings inside out Friday night before 52,225 at the Coliseum.

After the final penalty flag had been thrown, the score read Rams 39, Vikings 3.

Strapped with 10 infractions, including a holding penalty which cost Jack Snow a 43-yard touchdown in the first quarter, the Rams still breezed to their eighth successive triumph this summer and the second in conference competition without a loss.

The whistle-happy officials had a ball as they marched off 24 penalties for 272 yards, including 14 against the Vikings totaling 173 yards.

The Rams' Front Four, ably supported by the line-backing of Pardee, Myron Pottios, Maxie Baughan, kept the Vikings contained in their own territory the entire first half, never allowing them to advance beyond their 45-yard line.

As George Allen's forces headed for the dressing room at the mid-way break and leading 25-0, the visitors had netted zero yards rushing.

The Rams relied on Bruce Gossett's toe the first quarter to tack up a 6-0 lead, and then the cave-in began.

Allen's Defensive Unit Wins Praise; 'We Started Fast'

By AL LARSON

This was a reverse of the New Orleans game. This time we started fast and had a big advantage," Coach George Allen said in reviewing the Rams' 39-3 conquest of Minnesota Friday night.

"I was proud that our defensive unit has not had a touchdown scored on it via rushing in eight games this year. I'm also proud that our offensive unit has scored points in every quarter in our two league games. It shows some consistency," Allen noted.

Allen couldn't help but ask how many yards were matched off in penalties. "I wonder if it was a record. I guess it wasn't, but there were far too many."

Allen was quick to praise Eddie Meador for his outstanding ball-hawking job. "He played as good a game at free safety as we've had in a long time."

pass set up Gossett's third field goal of the night as the Rams extended their lead to 9-0 early in the second period.

Little more than a minute later the Rams were sailing along with a 16-0 advantage. Merlin Olsen separated Bill Brown from the ball and Roger Brown pounced on the fumble on Minnesota's eight-yard line. Two plays later Dick Bass slithered into the end zone from the 3-yard line.

The defense got into the act again as Pardee swiped Vanderkelen's sideline pass intended for Paul Flatley and zipped 40 yards for the score.

Baltimore Split Drops Red Sox Half-Game Back

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Boston Red Sox, thrashed 10-0 by Baltimore in the first game, stormed back for a 10-3 second-game victory in Friday's twilight doubleheader but dropped one-half game off the pace in the torrid American League pennant race.

The Minnesota Twins whipped the New York Yankees, 8-2, in an afternoon game to break out of a tie with Boston and maintained the edge as the Red Sox split.

The Orioles, who swept a three-game series from Boston last weekend, coasted to victory in Friday's first game behind the five-hit pitching of rookie Jim Hardin.

Brooks Robinson, Dave Johnson and Larry Haney knocked in three runs apiece for the fallen 1966 World Series Champions.

Hardin, who pitched out of a bases-loaded jam in the third and twice left two runners stranded, struck out seven as he brought his record to 8-2.

The Orioles took a 2-0 lead in the third inning of the nightcap before the Red Sox exploded for five runs in the fourth—aided by three Baltimore errors.

while Bill Munson ran the offense. Munson supplied the Rams with their final touchdown, a 10-yard dart to Bucky Pope, with less than two minutes remaining.

So far as statistics, Gabriel had a so-so evening, completing only 6 of 23 attempts for 128 yards. He had four completions nullified because officials ruled that receivers had stepped out-of-bounds.

Instead of presenting the game balls to Tommy Mason and defensive line coach Marion Campbell, the Rams should have turned them over to the officials. It was that kind of a night.

Jackrabbits Back in Form, Smash Santa Ana Valley

By TOM BARDEEN

The word is out. Poly is after the Moore League crown. After Friday night's 32-0 rout over Santa Ana Valley, the 1967 season looks to be the 'Year of the Jackrabbits'.

The Hares demonstrated unlimited depth in their backfield. When the Falcons adjusted their defense for the line-ripping power of Ed Giles, out popped Jerry Jaso, at wingback and Buster LaCoste at fullback.

... new backs that hadn't played before like tailback Greg Hinds, wingback Thurman Anderson and wingback Elmore Stewart took yardage at will.

From the first touchdown after 5 1/2 minutes of play, quarterback Bob Rapp mixed the ground gaining

Homers Put Twins in First Place, 8-2

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Cesar Tovar hit two home runs and Zoilo Versalles added a solo homer to lead Minnesota to an 8-2 victory over the New York Yankees Friday and give the Twins sole possession of first place in the American League pennant race — by a half-game over the Boston Red Sox.

Jim Kaat posted his sixth consecutive victory on a seven-hitter, striking out seven and allowing only two earned runs. Kaat is now 15-13.

Tovar banged his fifth homer of the season, a 407-footer to left-center in the Twins' four-run fifth inning and hit another 355 feet down the left-field line in the eighth.

Versalles hit his sixth homer in the sixth inning.

After Tovar's homer in the fifth, Harmon Killebrew doubled and Tony Oliva drew an intentional pass. Bob Allison walked to fill the bases. Rod Carew singled to right, scoring Killebrew and Oliva, and send-

Tribe Wins in 13th; Chisox Fall 2 Back

CLEVELAND (AP) — Tony Horton hit reliever Rogers Nelson's first pitch into the left field stands Friday night, giving Cleveland a 2-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox in 13 innings.

The defeat knocked the White Sox into fourth place in the hectic American League pennant race, two games behind Minnesota, which beat New York.

Boston, which split a doubleheader with Baltimore, is in second place, one-half game off the pace, and Detroit, which swept two games from Washington, is third, one game back.

CSLB, Gators Clash Today in Hot Interleague 'War'

By JIM McCORMACK
Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO — A crusading Cal State Long Beach meets a crusading San Francisco State here this afternoon in what promises to be all-out war.

The Golden Gators represent the Far Western Conference, a league which is annually disregarded in favor of the CCAA in the Camellia Bowl's balloting for a Western representative.

Because of this, San Francisco, which annually wins or finishes second in its league, likes to bust up teams from the CCAA and the Golden Gators have had considerable success in this area, hosting 22 CCAA teams over the years and beating 21 of them.

The 49ers have, embarrassingly, contributed seven of those victories and have only one win, a 24-18 decision last year, to show for the 12-year series.

Long Beach, in fact, doesn't have much going for it in San Francisco. In each of those 12 games, the Golden Gators have always scored at least three times. Until last year it was always enough.

That presents quite a problem for the 49er defense, which was relatively unchallenged against Cal Poly, Pomona, San Francisco as an excellent controlled offense, built around quarterback Bob Toledo and tight end Ed Larios.

Larios started against Long Beach last year and caught two touchdown passes. The senior end, with pro potential, finished the year with 36 receptions.

Overcoming three touchdowns provides a difficult problem to the 49er offense which must contend with a defensively-oriented foe.

As a football coach would say, the 49ers will have to outkick the Gators. They are big, tough and experienced inside.

Once again, the key will be the 49ers' line and its ability to get halfbacks Phil Johnson and Charley Dunn outside of the Gator defense.

The Gators should give quarterbacks Gerry Miller and Dave Merrill and tight end Bill Parks quite a reception. They remember last year when the 49ers passed for 321 yards and three scores against their defense.

A's Swing the Ax, Eliminate Angels From Last Flag Hope

By ROSS NEWHAN
Staff Writer

KANSAS CITY — The Great Race took a definitive turn Friday night.

The Angels were eliminated.

Liquidation papers were served by Catfish Hunter in the form of a five-hitter, enabling the Kansas City-Seattle-Oakland A's to prosper, 3-1.

Nine and one-half out with nine to play, the expansionists keep a seven-year streak intact.

This time the cry of "wait 'til next year" is even useless, for Fred Haney announced Wednesday that the Angels will be unable to field a championship club in 1968.

On the street corners of Anaheim, the cry is heard: "Wait until the year after next."

Said Haney: "I've been in

Wilson Wins 22nd; Sweep for Tigers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Earl Wilson became the first 22-game winner in the majors on a seven-hitter and Mickey Lolich pitched a four-hitter Friday night as the Detroit Tigers swept a doubleheader from the Washington Senators, 8-3 and 4-0, to move within one game of first place.

Wilson and Lolich, both coming back with two days rest since the shorthanded Tiger staff has been hampered by the loss of Danny McLain, held the Senators in check in both games.

In the second game, Lolich and the Senators' Barry Moore had a scoreless duel until the Tigers allied with two out in the seventh. Dick McAuliffe started the two-out rally with a walk, Al Kaline beat out a chop hit and Willie Horton walked to load the bases.

Bill Freehan then drilled a single to left to score two runs. Norm Cash added the third run with a leadoff homer in the eighth inning off Casey Cox. Detroit's final run in the ninth came on singles by Jim Northrup, Freehan and Don Wert.

Wilson, now 22-10, led Detroit's 13-hit attack in the opener with a pair of singles. Wilson struck out seven and didn't walk a batter. Solo homers by Hank Allen and Paul Casanova were the only damaging blows off Wilson.

ANGEL OF DAY
JIMMIE HALL went 2-for-3 with a double and a single and scored Angels' lone run in 3-1 loss to Athletics.

this game for 50 years and I know what it takes to win. I'll let you know where we're ready." Haney's statement obviously reached Kansas City. There is no other way to explain a crowd of 2,640 which was the smallest to see the Angels play on the road this year.

Included was Dodger scout Tommy La Sorda who is here to examine the A's young talent with an eye to a winter trade.

Nothing is predictable with Charles Finley, but you would assume that James (Catfish) Hunter is one of the few untouchables.

The 21-year old righthander has won 12, lost 16 and the record could easily be reversed if the A's were to consistently score three runs as they did this time in the third inning.

They had scored only four runs in the previous four games and had lost nine in a row before two walks, two infield singles and Mike Hershberger's two-run single brought demands for a saliva test.

Instead Jack Hamilton (8-6) took the loss.

The A's are thus 4-3 over a team they lost nine in a row to at the Big A.

Kings Triumph Over Flyers

The Los Angeles Kings scored a 3-1 win over the Philadelphia Flyers Friday in an exhibition hockey game at Guelph, Ontario.

The contest was disrupted by a fight between Art Mesek of the Flyers and Billy Gray of the Kings. Gray had to leave the game in the early stages of the third period and did not see action again.

The Kings have won two of their last three pre-season games, the other ending in a 3-3 tie with the California Seals Thursday.

Cubs Win on Wild Pitch

CHICAGO (AP) — A wild pitch by Ted Abernathy with the bases loaded in the 10th inning gave the Chicago Cubs a 3-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds Friday in their fight for third place.
